Geographic Profiling Application of the Year Award 2018

Dear Geographic Profiling Community:

The Committee for Geographic Profiling Analyst Training and Certification (CGPATC) is pleased to invite you to submit candidates for the Geographic Profiling Application of the Year award.

This award is intended to recognize individual initiative, innovation and achievement in the field of geographic profiling, and to promote awareness of the field in general. It is open not only to law enforcement, but also to researchers and practitioners in other fields who meet the criteria for recognition. Tell us about the innovative use of geographic profiling or related techniques to solve a case, or creative new methods of using geographic profiling.

To make a submission, send the following information to award@cgpatc.org with the title "GPA Award Submission":

1. Your name, affiliation, and contact information
2. The person you are proposing as a candidate for the award
3. A quick summary of what they did that deserves recognition through this award
4. As much additional detail as you would like to provide

The CGPATC will review all submissions and let you know if your candidate is selected as a finalist. More information may be requested. The recipient of the award will be announced on the CGPATC web site.

Submission deadline: February 28, 2019

Award date: March 2019

Thank you for your submissions!
